Description

Long and lean, the Large Platter Rib is designed to give good compression when you are making plates and platters. It enables proper compression of the clay to avoid those cracks that sometimes develop. The Large Platter Rib is made with a stiff polymer, but still offers some flexibility.

All of our polymer ribs are made of a unique flexible materials, that are resistant to wear and the formation of burrs. We've found that with general use this rib material becomes burnished over time. The Small Platter Polymer Rib is available in the following flexibility options:

- Green - Medium
- Black - Extra Firm
